Louise J. and W. T. Moran Center, Magnificat House

1410 Elgin Avenue

2011, Leslie Elkins

A multi-use facility serving the non-profit Magnificat House, this is a one-story clapboard and concrete block building, animated by its shallow pitched roofs.

Sicardi Gallery

1506 W. Alabama Avenue 2012,

Brave/Architecture

For a gallery specializing in contemporary Latin American art, Fernando Brave organized this compact, two-story building as a sequence of stacked volumes. Big-scaled openings and the contrast between horizontally ribbed steel panel siding on the second floor and a stucco-finished ground floor make the gallery a stand out. Architect Dillon Kyle's studio is located next door at 1500 W. Alabama.

B-82C

HEB Montrose Market

1701 W. Alabama Avenue

2011, Lake/Flato

To placate neighborhood indignation over demolition of the Wilshire Village Apartments (1940), the HEB grocery corporation retained Lake/Flato of San Antonio to design this large supermarket. Clerestory roof
